

Climate change & environmental issues are real – read the fiction inspired by them: floods, drought, danger and hope.

 Exodus by Julie Bertagna <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - a future flooded world shaped by global warming 	 Floodland by Marcus Sedgwick <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Desperation and a determination to survive
 POP! By Mitch Johnson <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Corporate greed and pollution 	 Thunderbolt by Wilbur Smith <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Exciting adventure, and coral conservation
 Gorilla Dawn by Gill Lewis <ul style="list-style-type: none"> -Set in the Congo forest, where gorillas are threatened and precious minerals sourced. 	 Where the World turns Wild by Nicola Penfold <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - a thrilling journey and a reflection of what humans are doing to the planet.

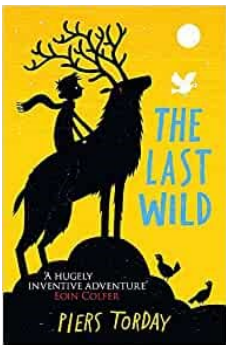

Flood World by Tom Huddleston

- A dystopian world after rising seas drown civilisation

Moon Bear by Gill Lewis

- Deforestation, profit and destroying habitat

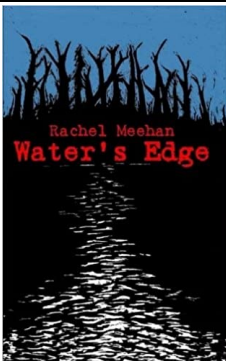

The Last Wild by Piers Torday

- the interdependence of man and nature in this future world

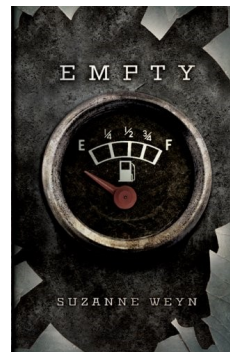

Breathe by Sarah Crossan

- A world without trees struggles for oxygen in this fast paced dystopian thriller

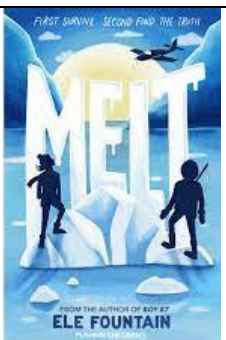

Water's Edge by Rachel Meehan

- A society at breaking point because of the extremes of weather

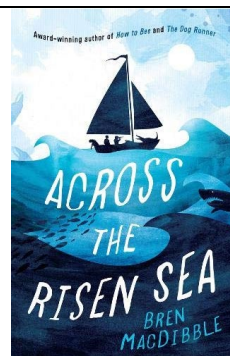

Empty by Suzanne Weyn

- What happens to a town in America when all the fossil fuels have run out

Melt by Ele Fountain

- Gripping adventure, corrupt oil corporations, lost planes, and a threatened Arctic.

Across the Risen Sea by Bren MacDibble

- Dramatic rescue, adventure, danger, secrets, loyalty.