- Trying the pitta's and the sauces, also doing the presentations (James Hall)
- I enjoyed tasting the food and the activity when we had to guess what was in the sauces (Adam Waterhouse)

What new ideas or information have you learned from this activity?

- I have learnt the history of Nando's but also what Nando's looks for in its employees, Good body language, tone and choice of words. (Grace Cook)
- Last year Nando's sold 23 million chickens and that they look at body language, speech and tone of voice. I hope I can get work experience there next year (Freddie Cowen)
- I learned that Nando's use over 23 million chickens in one year. And I have learnt more about the history of Nando's. I liked being able to taste the sauces and trying to guess the ingredients (Scott Johnson)
- I have learnt how to analyse different appearances of objects such as sauces and the back ground of the massive business. (Gabe Parr)
- I learned about the history of Nando's and how they have grown since 1987, and what the sauce was made of and I loved the voucher. (Emily Austin)
- I have learn about how much sauce they use and how much of the chicken they use (Emily Heaviside)
- I've learnt about the history of Nando's and the people who started the business (Charmian Pounder)
- They sell 23-26 million chickens a year, they also have 12000 staff across the UK (Reece Unwin)
- Nando's was formed in Johannesburg! And they sell 26,000 chickens a year! (James Hall)
- Better presentation skills and designing skills (Adam Waterhouse)

What have you least enjoyed or found some difficulty with?

- I was slightly disappointed to not have any chicken (Freddie Cowen)
- I least enjoyed not being able to sample the chicken on offer and wish we could have stayed longer. However it was extremely enjoyable and have lovely food (Scott Johnson)
- Well it wasn't really disappointing at all we got free drinks and tasters and skills, but it I had to say one thing it would be the lack of chicken, as Nando's is all about the stuff. (Gabe Parr)
- I found it difficult guessing the ingredients in the sauce but it was still fun. (Emily Austin)
- I least enjoyed trying the spicy sauce, because it set my mouth on fire (Emily Heaviside)
- I enjoyed all of the activities, the sauce was a bit spicy for me (Charmian Pounder)
- I didn't like the pitching of the new uniform and was disappointed that we didn't get to try the chicken (Reece Unwin)
- N/A I liked all of it! Trying the sauce was fun and difficult! (James Hall)
- I was slightly disappointed we didn't get to try the chicken (Adam Waterhouse)

What would you like to change if you did this activity again?

- It would have been nice to try chicken but the pitta bread and sauce tasting was great too (Grace Cook)
- Stay for longer and try some chicken (Freddie Cowen)
- I would have liked to learn how Nando's advertise and bring in customers to their restaurant. I would have also liked to have stayed longer. (Scott Johnson)
- Nothing, I say it gave us all the inspiration we needed. (Gabe Parr)
- I would lengthen the trip so we could learn more about how the business develops today so we can learn for our own businesses. (Emily Austin)
- I would have enjoyed trying a taster if their chicken, but I didn't mind trying the sauce and pitta's. (Emily Heaviside)
- I would like to stay all day at Nando's (Charmian Pounder)
- Try the chicken as well as the sauce (Reece Unwin)
- It would be longer and try some chicken (James Hall)
- I would let us review the food next time (Adam Waterhouse)
